PLAGUE NOTES.

QUARANTINE AT SAIGON

Messrs. Lamke and Rogge courteous'y inform us that they received a telegram from Messrs. Wm. G. Hele & Co., of Salgon at 10 o'c'ock this essening stating that the French authorities have issued a notification actting forth that to (fee) days' quarantine will be enforced from this date on all vessels arriving at S. Igon from Hongkong, Inquiries.made at the French Consulate, have elicited the additional information that the ten days mentioned in Messrs, Lamke and Rogge's message does not mean that all vessels halling from Hongkong will be subjected to ten days quarantine. On the contrary, the French Consul courteously informed a Telegraph reporter this afternoon that vessels arriving at Saigon from Hongkong will be liable to ten days' quarantine if Chinese are found on board, but that should they arrive there without Chinese, and no suspicious cases be found on board, such vessels will be at once at liberty to enter the port.

Owing to noteworthy decrease in the mortality from plague at Swatow the Sanitary Board (or rather the official remnant of that august body) yesterdaydecided to inform the Government that in the opinion of the Board quarantine in Hongkong against Swatow is no longer necessary."

Sanitary Board,

212t Julie, 189 !. To THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG TELEGRAPE." Sir, Yesterday afternoon symptoms of plague developed in one of the persons from a house is Heung Lane who had been placed under observ ation some days ago in a marriage-boat or mative marine hotel at the back of the Stonecutter's Island. The patient was at once transferred to the Kennedy Town Hospital and is now under treatment there. Two deaths from plague have occurred during the past 24 hours.

The following are the statistics from June 14th to noon this day :-No. of cases reported ...... II a cases still under treatment ... 1 The total number of deaths from plague since the 20th April, the day on which the first case was reported, is filteen.

AT THE THEATRE ROYAL.

That the galaxy of first-class talent brought here by Mr. Clifford Willard is far and away superior to any of the "shows" that have well. visited these realms of the blest in recent years is proved by the large audience that, despite the terrible heat, nightly assemble to witness the successful effo.ts of the artistes to please, amuse and edify. Not once since he "set up in business "here has Mr. Willard had a poor house, and even on "mail night "the attendance was we believe, declared by the management to be satisfactory. That means a good deal, foras far as our experience of travelling Companies goes they are about the hardest people in the world to please, no matter how much you write them up, while as far as the "takings" are concerned they'll cry "hold | enough |" only when the last dollar has been drawn from the vaults of all the banks in the Colony. in the cast were all well played, and on the whole the company made a most successful appearance and one quite worthy of the Willards' past reputation. The chorus was very effective throughout. The dancing was great feature. This department was left in the hands-or rather to the feet-of three young ladies who came out specially strongly a -pas dei trois l'In began with two the trois coming forward and indulging in a quick high-kick dence terminating in what are technically called "the splits." Then two came forward and gave a similar dance, ending in a cart-wheel somersault by each, after which the three dancers ranged themselves in single file, as in the pas de trois in Faust up-to-date, and showed how high they could kick, and when the dance fished the three dancers were left in a row stretched in " the splits " in the foreground. The item was "up-to-date," finde-stecle, and all that sort of thing, but, all the same, it was something a little more severe than a cancan. It was very clover though, and it was encored. For the rest Beccatche was well staged. The scenery was appropriate in all the three acts, the desses were brilliant and pretty, and the li-ht effects were good. Furthermore, the orchestra performed the incldental music in a skilful manner, and the audience left thoroughly satisfied.

"LITTLE CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS." There was again a large audience at the City Hall last night-more numerous than on the previous evening, each part of the house having its fair quota; and the performance, though the heat was a drawbick, cannot be otherwise described then as enjoyable on the whole, "Little Christopher Columbus " was the plece produced the title role being taken by Miss Ethel Mackay and we must say that we were very much pleased with this fady's singing and acting She has a remarkably sweet and sympathetic voice and in several of her solos quite captivated the audience. Her songs with subdued charges—the singers being out of sight of the audience-took immensely, the audience manifesting their delight in rapturous applause. Pleasing in presence and winning in manner, these qualities tended to heighten the effect of her representation; and she adapted herself with facility to the various phases of her part, it being generally admitted that she had scored a success. Of the other ladies mention also deserves to be made of Mits Mowbray who has the second, and Mrs. Block was very well made up and did the little that fell to her lot to perfection; and Miss Mowbray who has a soprano voice of very wide range. "O'Hoolejan" was capitally done by Mr. Harry Half. THE NEW GERMAN CANAL.

The Canal which for some years past has been in course of construction, between the North Sea and the Baltic has now been completed and opened by the Emperor of Germany with great pemp and ceremony. The project has been mosted for many year; but it is only since 1885 that it assumed anything like material form by the introduction of a Bill into the Reichstag authorising the works, and providroute of the Panama Canal is trying to sell the log the" means for carrying them out. The expense of the undertaking was estimated at eight millions sterling, of which sum one-third was to be borne by Prussia, and the remainder distributed over the other parts of the Empire. There difficulties, in regard both to distance and cost, render it almost impossible for German shipowners to compete successfully with the freights of coal carried to the Baltic from Scotch and North of England ports." This has for many years been a grievance of the Hamburg merchants, and has increased rather than diminished since vessels of greater burden received a derutation from the Associated have displaced the little craft formerly employed in the coasting trade. Even then, the length and perils of the passage round the western point of Jutland so heavily handicapped local commerce that, about a century ago, the Danish Government opened a canal through the peninsula between Kiel on the East and the mouth of the River Kider on the West Coast of Sleavig-Holstein, of which Duchies it formed the boundary. The Canal Lord Rosebery did not reply, but informed in reality, was constituted for half its length of the deepened bed of the river. The only nation which cannot view the North Sea Canal without uppleasant forebodings is Denmark, since much of her coasting | the 27th. trade must be lost through it, a lest, indeed, the free port at Copenhagen, which was constructed avowedly in articipation of this alteration in the course of commerce, neutralises the disadvant-

The Sura canal cost $125,000,000 and is capitalized at $90,500,000 In 1892 it paid a net profit of $8,333,333.333, which was produced by the passage of 3,559 vessels through the nal. Shares, the par value of which is $100; are quoted at the Paris Bourse at $538.50. The $20,000,000 worth of stock held by the British Government is quitted at $95,000,000 in the open market.

The Nicaragua canal, even if a commercial failure would says an American paper, be great advantage to the United States, as the controlling ownership of this waterway between the oceans would be worth the $70,000,000 to which Government credit is expressly limited in the bill now pending before Congress, The ship canal between the Delaware river and Raritan Bay, an important link in the chain of interior waterways, which will ultimately, it is hoped, enable vessels of large size to pass from Boston to the Gulf of Mexico without being exposed to the fire of a hostile fleet, is under discussion. The second ship canal, known as the Florida ship ganel, which is intended to pierce the isthmus that connects the peninsula with the mainland. is warmly advocated by the Southern press, This canal would only be to miles long, and would lessen the distance between New Orleans and Liverpool by 1,000 miles, and would tend to greatly increase the commerce of the Southern ports. It would be of great value in the development of the Southern and Western coal fields.

THE INKPOT INCIDENT.

Thus the Hongkong correspondent of the Stant Free Press under date ust June :-Through a blunder in the interpretation of the Reuter's telegram by the Straits papers it was given out that both Mr Francis and Mr. May had been the recipients of C.M.G.-ships. Such is not the case. The order has been conferred only on Mr. Francis May, the Superintendent of Police. And as a recognition of the invaluable labours of Mr. Francis, Q.C. leader of the Bar, during the plague, a silver inkstand, suitably inscribed, was sent to him by our Governor by the direction of the Secretary of State. It need hardly be said that the sturdy lawyer promptly returned the gift with a covering letter which occupied two columns of the Dally Press. In it Mr. Francis made out a strong case against the government for the extremely shabby treatment meted out to blm. The letter is the resence of terseness and to the point. Its general tenor can be fairly gauged by the following extract :--

'I am not at all ashamed to say that I should have been highly gratified if Her Majesty had thought fit to honour me as my friend and colleague, Mr. May, has been so deservedly honoured; but the gift of a silver inkstand from the Government of Hongkong is, if your Excellency will pardon the expression, so ludicrously inadequate to the services rendered, even to the mere time expended by me in working on the Permanent Committee, that I can only come to one conclusion, and that is, that the Marquess of Ripon has, in some strange fashion. been left under the Impression that I was simply Secretary to the Permanent Committee, and not from force of circumstances and because of the necessary division of labour between us, its brain and motive power. This is not said in any way in derogation of the ability or skill of my colleague; who deserved the very bighest praise and commendation, but they themselves constituted me their leader, accepted my leadership, and would be the very first to admit and proclaim that in our five months' campaign against the plague I was the General in command. It is usual in England, for at least it always has been, to award the honours of the campaign to the leader, however distinguished may have been the services of his colleagues. The community are at one in sympathising with Mr. Francis To ask him to accept a paltry inkstand while conferring a C. M. G-ship upon his colleague on the Permanent Committee, Mr. F. H. May, is constitued by the local organs of public opinion as a marked and intentional insult. The explanations offered so far have been that in Crown Colonies the government has always been chary of conferring honours outside the charmed circle of officialdom, however great be the re:vices rendered; and that Mr. Francis is the guiding spirit of all opposition to the powers that he' There is no doubt that Mr. Francis has been at times unnecessarily warm in his denunciation of governmental measures, but regret is excressed all round that such a narrow-minded consideration should have had any weight in the recognitien of such services as those rendered by Mr. Francis in a public cause to the detriment of his extensive practice.
